Willard Adds New Sparring Partner in Place of Battered Heinen; Boys of A. E. F. on Rhine May Get Motion Pictures of the Battle

By W. O. McGeehan

TOLEDO, June 21.—With the seam over his right eye carefully plastered with adhesive tape, Jack Dempsey to-day did his first serious boxing since the Jamaica Kid opened the cut. He sparred five fairly fast rounds—two with the Jamaica Kid, two with Terry Keller and one with Bill Tate, the copper hued Senegambian, who bulks nearly as tall as Jess Willard.

About three thousand Toledo persons and fight experts frizzled in both camps. Willard boxed his usual eight rounds, but Jack Heinen was replaced by "Steamboat Bill" Scott, a light heavy, just returned from the American Expeditionary Force.

Heinen has become discouraged. He has a stiff neck and considerable difficulty in digesting a couple of teeth which he swallowed the other day after meeting one of Willard's right uppercuts.

According to Adam Empe, secretary of the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control, Major Drexel Biddle and Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, will be here Monday to confer with Tex Rickard and all concerned on the referee question.

Jack Full of "Pep"

Dempsey showed up full of spring and vitality. The reds has done him a great deal of good. He showed up well with the Jamaica Kid and Keller, who are comparatively small, but not so well with Bill Tate, who is nearer the mastodontic proportions of Willard. Dempsey had some difficulty in reaching Tate at all, and William Harrison topped many a straight left.

It was quite apparent that Dempsey was going to hit as hard as Willard. The station on the Fourth may be as to which can take the more punishment and remain on his feet. Speed, of course, Dempsey possesses to a greater degree than Willard. Jess looks like an old St. Bernard at play, while Dempsey shapes up like a wiry, well-trained Airborne fighter.

Tom Jones, the barber of Keweenaw, who was one of Willard's managers when he fought Jack Johnson, said today that Willard seemed slower than he was when he fought at Havana. "But," added the barber, "don't let anybody tell you that he is not in condition. He is in as good condition as I have ever seen him in. I am sure he will be better as the time passes. I have bet my money on him and I know that he will win."

"I don't think he has been doing enough work though. He ought to have started earlier, and he would be just as fast as he ever was by this time. I am satisfied that he can win and my bet will go as you say."

Biggest Crowd Attends

The crowd to-day was the biggest that has drifted to the shores of Maumee Bay since the training started. One of the most surprising things to see was many matronly ladies crowding close to the ring where the boxing is staged and holding up little toddlers of both sexes to get a glimpse of Jack or Jess. They were quite as interested in watching what the result will be. I think that a poll of the old ladies would show Willard the favorite. His bulk seems to impress them.

Two aeroplanes, lingering in this section on recruiting duty, skimmed over both rings to-day. One of them made a dive and grazed the canvas at Dempsey's corner. The other, while the aviator waved "good luck" to William Henry. The aviators have signified their intention of remaining until after the fourth and taking a good look at the fight before paying anything to the promoters.

Willard's training tactics still annoy the sages. Frequently he will stop to let his sparring partners whale away at him and then take another stiffen his jaw deliberately to receive their punches. "Circus stuff," the experts say, but it delights the crowd. Toward the end of the sparring Walter Monahan, coach of the "Steamboat" boys, hit him hard, several times to the jaw. Willard immediately turned serious and jolted Monahan with a right uppercut.

It was stilling hot to-day, particularly in the small enclosure where Dempsey boxed. William Harrison worked up a free perspiration in his five rounds and called it an afternoon. He continued to box for a few days and then probably will take another lay-off. He still looks fairly slender for a 200-pounder.

Pictures for the A. E. F.

Bill Roche, the former referee, now with the Knights of Columbus, thinks that Dempsey needs a lot more work and some tougher and well skilled sparring partners. William is here to get the moving pictures of the fight for the A. E. F. in Germany. He says he promised to bring them back to Coblenz to show to the boys and are keeping the watch on the Rhine.

William has no particular preference in this fight. He thinks that all the fighters worth mentioning were in the A. E. F. and that the sideshow like this million-dollar affair on the Fourth do not count for much. Comparatively speaking, William seems to be right.

"Steamboat Bill" Scott, the latest recruit at the Willard camp, seems to think he has struck a job of work. "The Steamboat" is not a particularly skillful boxer and Willard roughed his face considerably with lefts and backhands. Scott, who is a tall, dark, and somewhat battered man, he knocked off for the afternoon.

Willard's persistence in having his sparring partners whale at the armor of muscle that covers his back and shoulders seems to indicate that he anticipates William Harrison Dempsey landing once in a while, and that he is testing the armor to see how it stands. It seems to be invulnerable, but then, again, Dempsey will sock more earnestly than any sparring partner, and he will not send an advance notice when he is about to take another whaling. Which, as Mr. Montague Glass frequently has remarked, "is something else again, Mawruss."

Wrangle Over Bandages

One of the subjects for last minute wrangle was the bandages. Somebody has told me that Willard is in the habit of bandaging his hands with heavy tape until they look like the carved and carved in the old Roman cestus. He is supposed to have been forced to use this tape because he is a right hander. A couple of wall-papers from the well-banded fists of Dempsey disappeared from Fred Fulton in short order.

Rice and McGeehan To Write Big Fight For Tribune Readers

GRANTLAND RICE and W. O. McGeehan, two of the best posted men on sporting topics in this country, will report the Willard-Dempsey championship fight July 4 for the Tribune. Mr. McGeehan is already on the battle ground in Toledo, from where he is telegraphing daily accounts of the training work of both heavyweights. He will be joined shortly by Mr. Rice.

The Tribune will receive direct ringside service on fight day, having leased a special wire to transmit the reports of Rice and McGeehan.

These two experts will write up the fight in their inimitable styles, and for the most accurate description of the big fight and of the events preceding and following the battle you must read The Tribune.

declarations and threats to walk out. But no bones will be broken and it will all be settled before a week from to-day.

Ohio Executive Says He Won't Interfere With Toledo Battle

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 21.—Governor Cox will not interfere with the Willard-Dempsey fight at Toledo July 4 unless the Ohio Legislature gives him specific authority to do so. As the Legislature is now in recess until December, this is regarded as unlikely.

With reference to the situation affecting the contest, Governor Cox today made the following statement: "The propaganda begun a short time ago under political auspices is based upon such a deliberate attempt to deceive the public that it would seem proper for me to give the facts. Under the laws of this state, and the interpretation by the courts, boxing contests are legalized under direction of local municipal authorities. Several attempts within the last few weeks were made in the Ohio Legislature to change existing statute on the subject, but without result. Failing in this, one branch of the Legislature passed a resolution requesting me to interfere with the contest."

In other words, after the Assembly itself failed to give me legal authority, one branch of it urged me to proceed without right. Dictatorship has not prospered even in Russia, and the executive power of this state will be within the laws of the commonwealth so long as I am Governor. "Boxing contests are conducted in at least a dozen of our largest cities. During the winter months, and within the square of the legislative halls in Columbus, and were attended in goodly numbers by members of the Legislature. If the law is changed giving me the right of interference, it will be exercised, but I shall not meet hypocrisy with usurpation of power."

American Team Named

LONDON, June 21.—Drawings for the lawn tennis championship tournament, which will begin at Wimbledon Monday, were made to-day. The following Americans are among the entries: Major Dean Matthey, Captain Watson M. Washburn, C. Garland and Willis Davis.

Around the Club Links

John Hodgson and R. H. Gregory tied for top honors in the Class A ball sweepstakes held yesterday over the links of the Montclair Golf Club. Each turned in a net score of 73. Hodgson, however, had the lower handicap of 12, while Gregory's was 15. The afternoon sweepstakes went to F. C. Fuller, with 82—6—76. Reekie, with a duplicate card of the morning round, was second, while R. B. Burton, with 87—18—79, was third.

The scores: Club championship (semi-final round)—H. J. McGeehan, 72, 6—72, W. C. Cushman, 73, 6—73, M. R. Wood, 74, 6—74, J. T. Bitteridge, 3 up and 2 to McGeehan. Morning round—H. J. McGeehan, 72, 6—72, W. C. Cushman, 73, 6—73, M. R. Wood, 74, 6—74, J. T. Bitteridge, 3 up and 2 to McGeehan. Afternoon round—F. C. Fuller, 82, 6—76, W. C. Reekie, 7, 3—77, R. B. Burton, 87, 18—79.

Reach Final at Montclair

The semi-final round for the club golf championship was held over the course of the Upper Montclair Country Club yesterday. William J. McLoughlin entered the final round with Sam W. Wood, as both were triumphant in their respective matches. McLoughlin had an easy time in his match with H. J. G. Mackie, winning easily by 4 up and 3 to play.

Mackie, however, forced McLoughlin to make a strenuous fight in order to get the decisive victory. The outward going was so closely contested that it was thought the match would go to extra holes. But Mackie fell off his horse and dropped behind, allowing McLoughlin to clinch an easy win. Wood defeated B. T. Bitteridge by 8 up and 2 to play.

The morning round of the ball sweepstakes was won by F. W. Dyer with a net score of 72. He played from scratch. W. C. Cushman, with a complete card of 98—23—75, was second, while third place went to William M. Reekie, with 74—3—77. The afternoon sweepstakes went to F. C. Fuller, with 82—6—76. Reekie, with a duplicate card of the morning round, was second, while R. B. Burton, with 87—18—79, was third.

Inter-Allied Sport Carnival Gets Under Way To-morrow

Dedication Ceremonies in Pershing Stadium To-day; 1,500 to Compete

PARIS, June 21.—President Wilson, accompanied by President Poincaré and Premier Clemenceau, probably will take part to-morrow in the ceremony attending the opening of Pershing Stadium. Only urgent business in connection with the peace treaty that might make it necessary for the President and Mr. Clemenceau to attend a meeting of the council of five would prevent their attendance.

By A. C. Cavagnaro

The eyes of the sporting world will center for the next two weeks on the doings in the Pershing Stadium, at Joinville-le-Point, near Paris, where the athletes of the Allied countries will compete for championships in the various forms of sport. The massive stadium, which was built by the United States and later will be given to France, will be dedicated to-day with elaborate ceremonies, which President Wilson, President Poincaré and Premier Clemenceau will attend.

The official sporting calendar is scheduled to begin to-morrow, and until July 6 competitions in various sports will be indulged in by representatives of fourteen countries. A majority of the contests will be held in the stadium, while events in swimming, horseback riding, rugby football and association football will be conducted outside of the stadium. A total of 1,500 Allied representatives will compete.

Sport followers in this country expect our representatives to make a strong showing in all the competitions. The athletes composing the United States track and field squad are the best that could be mustered. The foreign countries do not expect to collect many points but may do so if the American boys become overconfident and lose contests through carelessness.

France to Put Up Fight

France, Italy and England are looked upon as the only dangerous opponents to the United States. France particularly is expected to give the American team quite a tussle in a number of events, for during the war Yankee athletes were beaten by points in many of the events.

The American track team candidates engaged in their trial heats last Thursday and Friday and showed they are ready to do their best against their rivals. In the spring, Charley Paddock, Sol Butler and Eddie Teschner will be a hard trio to beat.

Much is expected of Paddock, who has never met defeat in two years of competition. In the preliminaries, Paddock took 100 meters in 10½ seconds, only one-fifth of a second behind the world's record, Bob Simpson. William Stevenson, H. L. Barron, E. Lewis and A. Ames will take good care of both hurdle events, while Earl Eby is expected to show the foreigners some speed in the 440 and 880 yard runs.

Some Fine Broad Jumpers

Harry Worthington, Dave Politzer and Butler are expected to show some good performances in the broad jump, while Floyd and Johnson are the two stars in the pole vault. Nick Gianakopoulos is to be America's ace in the long distance events. Pat Ryan, the world champion with the hammer, is scheduled to compete in his specialty in an exhibition contest.

The United States entry in the track and field sports will number approximately 150 athletes, of whom about fifty were sent over from this country early this month to augment the forces that were in France. Colonel Joseph H. Thompson, four times wounded in action, is in charge of the American team, and in a recent letter to Frederick W. Rubien, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, declared that the athletes had weathered the trip across the Atlantic in good fashion.

Following the dedicating ceremonies to-day the games will get under way to-morrow, with baseball, association football and gymnastics making up a part of the calendar.

Howard to Defend Title

Kenneth S. Howard, of Rochester, holder of the state chess championship, will defend his title in the forthcoming tournament at Troy, which is scheduled to start on August 6.

Youth Winner of Batusrol Star on Links

Walker Carries Off Chief Honors in Invitation Golf Tourney on Staten Island

Chief honors in the invitation tournament at the Fox Hills Golf Club, Staten Island, went to A. L. Walker, Jr., the youthful Richmond County lad, when he defeated A. F. Kammer, of Batusrol, in the final round yesterday afternoon, by 3 up and 1 to play. Only a week or so ago, Walker won the medal in the qualifying round of the Metropolitan championship meeting at Brooklawn, and then reached the final, where he was put out by Oswald Kirby, of the Englewood crack.

From the time they left the first tee yesterday, up to the moment that the match ended on the seventeenth, Walker always had the upper hand. He won the first two holes in 4s, but lost the third when Kammer rolled in a long putt from off the edge of the green. There Walker tried to trip in, but his ball overran and he needed 4.

In Trouble at Fourth

Both got into trouble going to the fourth, but Walker won in 5 to 6, and was 2 up again. The next five holes were halved, and the Columbia student turned for home 2 up, having gone out in 37 to 39 for his opponent. Luck was with Walker at the sixth, where he had second which he needed only to have gone out of bounds, hit the fence, and his next narrowly missed the bunker.

A half stymie laid by Kammer at the tenth caused Walker to lose there, and despite the fact that he ran down a twenty-foot putt for a 4 at the eleventh, he could get nothing better than a 5. Kammer, after getting in the rough, had recovered well and rolled in a six-foot putt for his 4. The Batusrol golfer got into trouble at the thirteenth, where his ball landed in the gorge and he needed 6 to 4 for Walker.

By winning the fourteenth in 5, Kammer reduced his rival's advantage to 3 up, but Walker quickly got ahead again at the sixteenth, when Kammer's ball got trapped. Walker was then dormie two, and a fine 3 at the 26th-yard seventeenth gave him the hole and the match. They played the bye hole, Walker taking 4 to 6 for Kammer. The winner had gone round in 72 to 78 for his opponent. The card follows:

Walker, out 44 45 53 54 44—27
Kammer, out 53 56 53 54 44—30
Batusrol, out 44 45 53 54 44—27
Kammer, in 44 45 53 54 44—27

Kammer Beat Follett

Kammer won his way to the final round by defeating W. H. Follett, of the home club, on Monday morning by 5 and 4 to play. The Batusrol man always had the upper hand over his opponent, and he finished the round in 72, including a 5 at the home hole. Walker closed with a 73, including a 12 hole, 3 and 1, in the other semi-final match.

The summary follows:

FIRST SIXTEEN
Semi-final round—A. F. Kammer, Batusrol, beat W. H. Follett, Fox Hills, 5 and 4 to play.
Final round—Walker beat Kammer, 3 up and 1 to play.

SECOND SIXTEEN
Semi-final round—George G. Baxter, Fox Hills, beat E. G. R. Riley, Fox Hills, 3 up and 4 to play.
Final round—Walker beat Baxter, 3 up and 2 to play.

THIRD SIXTEEN
Semi-final round—S. S. Trappe, Fox Hills, beat F. L. Byrne, Fox Hills, by default.
Final round—Walker beat Trappe, 3 up and 2 to play.

FOURTH SIXTEEN
Semi-final round—W. W. Harris, Duxbury, beat W. W. Harris, Duxbury, by default.
Final round—Walker beat Harris, 3 up and 2 to play.

Fifth Class Yachts

Stage Close Race

OYSTER BAY, L. I., June 21.—Nine of the little fish boats of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club had the most interesting race so far this season of Oyster Bay today. The craft were so well bunched that at the finish there was only a difference of 8 minutes and 43 seconds between Pompano, the property of W. G. West, Jr., the leading craft, and Dr. L. F. Bishop's Sabalo, the last to cross the finish line.

H. S. Shonnard's Cod and Nahena, the property of David Duncan, tied for seventh place, with a time of 1:04:22, which was sailed in a fairly fresh breeze from the southwest, was the third race of the first series for Seawanhaka yachtsmen.

The summary:

FIRST CLASS—THIRD RACE OF FIRST SERIES—START, 3:30. OUTSIDE COURSE

Pompano, C. G. West, Jr., 5:41:33
H. S. Shonnard's Cod, 5:41:33
Nahena, D. Duncan, 5:41:33
Sabalo, Dr. L. F. Bishop, 5:50:15

Miles to Captain Notre Dame

By unanimous choice Frank Miles, of St. Louis, the clever shortstop of the University of Notre Dame baseball team, has been elected captain of the 1920 baseball team. Larry Sutton, scout for the Phillies, who saw Miles in action several times, predicts that St. Louis player will wear a major league uniform after he leaves Notre Dame.

Report Thomas Will Quit as Penn Coach

It is likely that a new baseball coach will be obtained for the University of Pennsylvania team next year. Roy Thomas, the former major leaguer, has virtually admitted that his many years of coaching the Red and Blue squad have come to an end.

Pennsylvania experienced a disastrous 1919 campaign, winning five games out of seventeen contests. Athletics at the Quaker institution have ceased until next September, when candidates for the football eleven will be called out.
